

Heraeus offers free teeth whitening promotion with proceeds to benefit national breast cancer research

Patients who want a whiter, brighter smile use Venus® White teeth whitening gel

SOUTH BEND, INDIANA, September 29, 2009—In recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Heraeus, the worldwide leader in dental esthetics, is offering Venus® White teeth whitening gel for FREE (estimated retail value: $400) through its Venus Smile Program. The mint-flavored, take-home gel is available nationwide through participating Venus Smile dentists. Patients can locate a dentist and book an appointment online at www.MyVenusSmile.com. Patients can also experience a new smile at the Venus® White Virtual Smile Makeover site, www.TryAVenusSmile.com.

The Venus® White Breast Cancer Initiative is a key part of Heraeus' larger global citizenship program and reflects the company's commitment to use its resources to help enhance the health and well-being of females. "We are inspired by the tireless work of those on the front line who are seeking a cure for breast cancer," says Christopher Holden, President of Heraeus Kulzer.

The Company also donates a portion of proceeds from the sale of Venus® White throughout the year to support breast cancer research. Although breast cancer deaths have declined, it remains the second leading cause of cancer death in women.

For more information on Venus® White visit www.MyVenusSmile.com. For more information about NBCAM, please visit www.nbcam.org.
